About the project

Books has always been a fundamental part of education in European school system for last the 2500 years. In the recent 10-20 years bytes in understanding of computers and cell phone have become a larger part of the school in the different countries.

In this project the school are coming from 6 different nations, with their own traditions, systems and way of education. Combining these traditions and the use books and bytes, we will try to make the best cross European teaching method.

This will be done by using experiments in cross national groups at the mobility's during the project.

Another part of the project is living with social media etc., where the students present a drama on the topic living between books and bytes.

Film
with 18 small scenes showing the influence of bytes in every day life.
